

Density meter - - - Colorado state troopers - - - illegal search (actually all state troopers)

In 1996, a friend of mine had a small used-tool shop that was frequented by a state trooper. (The trooper would buy tools for his wood lathe.) One day that summer, I entered the shop just as the trooper was leaving. My friend's eyes were as big as silver dollars. He told me that the trooper had just explained to him of the Colorado trooper standard issue "density meter". All trooper cars had these.

He described it as a hand held pistol-shaped device that can detect: gun metal, cash (to the dollar), powdered drugs, agriculture drugs.

At that time, 1996, the trooper had to physically change a chip to scan for the various items. Drivers are challenged if over $3K cash is detected, or guns or drugs.

In 2011, a different friend had his van stall as he was south-bound on I-25 just south of Denver. One trooper pulled over to see what the issue was. My friend called his motor club for a tow truck and the trooper stayed with him, in a relaxed and un-busy manor. A second trooper pulled up and stood with the first trooper beside the van.

That second trooper had a hand-held unit which had two parallel yellow tubes. He would turn a dial and point it at cars passing from either direction. Nothing was said of the device, and David didn't know enough to ask about it.

I assume that this is the newer version of the 'density meter'.

In the past recent years (at least since 1996), I'm told that troopers will pull over a vehicle and first ask, "Do you have any money, guns or drugs?"

It is obvious that they have already done an illegal search. They will now use their training in the very specific use coercion and intimidation to get you to surrender your 4th amendment rights. Every state troop force is a criminal organization.

Please note the nation-wide effort of forfeiture based on illegal search, coercion and intimidation. All judges, prosecutors and law enforcement know of this and strive to keep it concealed. Many authorities know of it. The legislators usually don't know of the density meter, and are told/sold a lame story in order that they pass forfeiture legislation.

The unit is made by one of the treasonous electronic firms in Texas. Nothing will be found on the internet of the unit. It probably uses a gamma emitter; cobalt 60.

Some 7 years ago, a friend was looking on the internet for a job in Tuscan. He found a job that didn't involve heavy lifting, so he called them. The job was to slowly drive a small van through residential neighborhoods. When a light on a panel would come on, he was to stop and write down the address of the home on his right side, then continue his drive.

Please distribute this far and wide. It's time for this tyranny to end, and immediate reparations are long overdue (as are the many prosecutions).
